

LETTER

KUNWAR PRASUN

Friends of Chipko Movement activist and writer Kunwar Prasun assembled in Utrakhand on July 15 to pay their homage on his first death anniversary. Prasun played an extremely valuable role in protecting forests and saving hills from destructive mining, as also in the anti-liquor movement and the efforts to save traditional seeds. His life was an inspiring example of practical application of Gandhian ideals of simple living and experimenting with peaceful methods of opposing injustice.

Bharat Dogra,

New Delhi